

RE: Application for UX Designer position

Dear Great-West Life recruiter:

My name is Yida Zhang and I joined Living Sky Technologies two years ago and prospered immensely being a motivated, challenge-seeking individual. It was the most rewarding and exciting journey of my life and I fell in love in an ownership driven and self-disciplining environment.

At Living Sky Technologies, I was able to earn my way up to the lead UI (User Interface) and UX (User Experience) designer position in the first few months and I also took up another position as an app developer. As the UI and UX designer, I quickly developed the skills to understand concepts in great depth and to have clear communication skills to work effectively with the engineering team and the product owner. My responsibilities also included creating the feature list for our software, prototyping, and presenting my designs to the company during weekly meetings. To do this effectively, I had to be the most knowledgeable person about our vision and product second only to the product owner. We worked in an Agile team and that helped me learn to work effectively in a paced and collaborative environment.

I have the experience to collaborate with various departments, an awareness to solve problems, grinded skills to design and prototype, and most importantly, a passion to become better at what I do regardless of what I am doing. My past co-workers will be able to vouch for my hard-working nature and ability to learn which can be integrated into Great-West Life.

I recognize that I am in competition with many other talented designers, but I think I am the right choice for a candidate to fill this role at Great-West Life. I would really appreciate the opportunity to discuss my application in an interview. Thank you for taking the time to read about me and I look forward to your response.

Regards,

Yida Zhang
